The library at my residence houses the collected archival material, spread over around 1700 thick and thin volumes. This collection is of its own kind on the archival source material on the history of medico-pharmaceutical developments in India of last couple of centuries, available anywhere under one roof. I have willed that this collection be transferred to the Pharmaceutical Heritage Centre of the National Institute of Pharmaceutical Education & Research at Sahibzada Ajit Singh Nagar (Mohali) for use by interested researchers.
